Peter Goodship

Peter Goodship is Chief Executive of Portsmouth Naval Base Property Trust, a charitable company responsible for the regeneration and preservation of historic buildings associated with Her Majesty's Naval Base, Portsmouth. Peter has also advised several cities in the UK and Western and Eastern Europe on the regeneration of former military sites of historic significance.

In addition to being a Director of several charitable and non-charitable companies associated with the Portsmouth Historic Dockyard, he is also Director of one of the leading independent schools in the country specialising in special needs, particularly dyslexia, dyspraxia and aspergers. Peter is Chair of the School's strategy and development committee.

Peter also has an interest in the integration of the disabled and in the 1970's established the Portsmouth and District PHAB (Physically Handicapped and Abled Bodied) movement and developing it into the largest club of its kind in the UK. Peter is currently working with Lord Rix and his colleagues associated with Libertas in pioneering new resources to make visits to tourist attractions by those suffering from a whole range of intellectual disabilities more meaningful.

Brian Miller

Brian has always lived and worked in Portsmouth and has been actively involved in the local community for many years.

After serving a five-year apprenticeship in HM Dockyard, Brian then worked as a ships joiner at the dockyard for a further 15 years. Following this, he ran his own business as a builder for a number of years which then led him to becoming a multi-trade foreman with Portsmouth City Council for 13 years.

In the later 1950's Brian formed a Youth Club in St Andrews Church at the Royal Marine Barracks in Eastney and in the late 60's overtook the running of another Youth Club at Eastney Methodist Church. In the mid 70's he was Chair of a steering group which successfully set up a Community Centre in Eastney.

He has been actively involved in St. Georges Church in Portsea for the past 25 years, latterly being one of the Church Wardens. He has also been involved with various Community groups in Portsea and currently holds the posts secretary of Portsea Community Association, secretary of the Portsea Area Board (SRB) and secretary and director of Portsea Action Group 99 Ltd. In addition, he is also a member of the Local Strategic Partnership.

Janet de Bathe

Janet has a broad range of skills gained in both the private and voluntary sectors. She has lived and worked abroad and has established several successful businesses.

With a first degree in Social Policy and Administration and Postgraduate qualifications in Professional and Public Policy studies she has a broad understanding of the issues surrounding the economic prosperity and sustainability of business.

For the past 10 years she has been the Chief Executive Officer of Learning Links (Southern) Ltd. This educational charity works to widen participation in learning, especially by members of under-represented groups. Janet has a particular interest in the concept and practice of social enterprise.
